Other super account(s) that you want to combine with your Super Savings – Corporate account

Before you consolidate your super, please consider if the timing is right and if you will lose access to benefits such as insurance or pension options, or if there are tax implications. While combining your super into a single account in one fund may mean you pay less in fees and have less paperwork to deal with, it will also mean that any insurance cover you have in your old fund will stop. You should check whether you have insurance cover in that fund and consider whether you need that cover before making a decision to combine your super. You should also consider where your future employer contributions will be paid. You should also compare the other features of your old fund with your Super Savings – Corporate Accumulation account before making a decision. Visit art.com.au/compare

Do you have insurance cover with your other fund? You can transfer your cover to Australian Retirement Trust before you combine your super. Just complete a Transfer of Insurance Cover form, available on your employer plan's microsite. You should not cancel your existing cover until you have received confirmation that your transfer request has been accepted by Australian Retirement Trust.

Transfers from New Zealand

Australian Retirement Trust does not accept transfers from New Zealand KiwiSaver accounts or rollovers that contain a KiwiSaver component, from an Australian super fund.

Providing your tax file number (TFN)

Under the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993, your superannuation fund is authorised to collect, use and disclose your tax file number.

The trustee of your superannuation fund may disclose your tax file number to another superannuation provider, when your benefits are being transferred, unless you request the trustee of your superannuation fund in writing that your tax file number not be disclosed to any other superannuation provider.

Declining to quote your tax file number to the trustee of your superannuation fund is not an offence. However giving your tax file number to your superannuation fund will have the following advantages:

- your superannuation fund will be able to accept all
- permitted types of contributions to your account/s, other than the tax that may ordinarily apply, you will not pay more tax than you need to - this affects both contributions to your superannuation and benefit payments when you start drawing down your superannuation benefits, and
- it will make it much easier to find different superannuation accounts in your name so that you receive all your superannuation benefits when vou retire
